British Air Force Bombs German War Plants In Europe

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 9.—A series of terrific Royal Air Force raids against widespread military objectives on the continent of Europe were announced by the air ministry today in a statement disclosing that American-built Boston bombers played a leading part.

Focal point of the attack was the huge Krupp Armament Works at Essen. The statement said they were heavily bombed "on the same scale as the recent attack on the Renault Works near Paris."

An assault of such magnitude would have dealt a crippling blow to one of Germany's main arms production centers.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—With the fate of Java hidden behind a radio blackout and Japanese forces pressing toward Australia and further into Burma, new success for Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces today make Bataan peninsula the only bright spot in the three-month-old Pacific conflict.

In the latest demonstration of the best way to check the Japanese invasion tide, MacArthur's forces used hidden artillery batteries to smash one-third of a 90-truck convoy moving an estimated 2,500 troops toward the Philippine front lines. About 800 enemy troops were believed to have been killed.

Third Crushing Blow
The third crushing blow struck by MacArthur's men within the past 10 days was highlighted by reports from sources "hitherto re-

Man Reported By Japs Last Month As "Killed" Lands At New York

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 9.—The man who was "killed" last month by Japanese propaganda reports and the ambassador to the Court of St. James were safe home today after a transatlantic flight by clipper. Well-tanned by the tropical sun, Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet and until recently commander of the combined naval forces of the United Nations in the south Pacific, appeared optimistic over the Far Eastern situation despite continual Allied reverses. The 64-year-old admiral, who was reported killed Feb. 4 aboard the cruiser Houston by a Japanese radio broadcast, wisely summed up the situation with an eleven-word sentence—"When you lose a campaign you don't necessarily lose a war."

John Gilbert Winant, the ambassador, asserted that the loss of Singapore and other reverses in the Far East has served only to stiffen "the determination of the British people to fight."

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Corroborating reports that Lieut. Gen. Masarahu Homma has committed suicide, the war department today disclosed that Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, conqueror of Singapore, now is in command of the enemy forces opposing Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Philippine defenders.

Recording another lull in activities on Bataan peninsula, the army's morning communiqué spoke of "brisk skirmishes" in the vicinity of Digos, on Davao gulf bordering the southern Philippine island of Mindanao.

May Plan Onslaught
Presence of Yamashita in the Philippines indicated that the Japanese may be preparing to launch their long promised onslaught to crush MacArthur's forces which have held out for more than three months against a vastly superior force.

The war department yesterday announced that it had received information that General Homma had committed Hara Kari because of having "lost face" in his failure to (Continued On Page Two)

CHUNGKING, March 9.—China's expeditionary force in Burma, armed with American war materials sent through the Port of Rangoon, stands ready today to make a determined defense to prevent Japanese seizure of Mandalay.

Chinese army leaders here revealed that China is determined to do everything possible to hold Mandalay and cited the recent military conference between Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and his officers at Lashio, North Burma to complete arrangements toward this end.

"Rangoon may be lost to the United States," Chungking military men said, "but Mandalay must and will be defended. North Burma is vital to our communications."

For the past month Chinese troops in Southern Shaw State, North Burma, have been face to face with the Japanese, while all about them and to the south has raged the fury of the Japanese assault units attempting to make headway across Burma from Thailand.

Victory Strategy Plan Now Being Worked Out By Allied Command

By KINGSBURY SMITH

International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Responsible diplomatic sources in Washington today believe that a "victory strategy" plan is now being worked out by the high command in Washington, in close consultation with the British government in London.

These diplomatic sources believe the "victory strategy" plan calls for the "offensive defense" of Australia, India and Egypt this spring and summer, coupled with strong offensive thrusts by the British on the western European front to help Soviet Russia soften up German military might in preparation for a grand United Nations world-wide offensive campaign next year.

The view prevails in these diplomatic quarters that under the "victory strategy" plan tremendous reserves of men and materials will be built up in Australia, India and Egypt this year while the Soviets continue to bleed the German armies to death on the battlefields of Russia.

To help the Soviets, it is reported that the Royal Air Force, reinforced by American aerial armadas, will deliver increasingly heavy blows to Germany's solar plexus in western Europe. At the same time, British commands, probably assisted now and then by American troops, are expected to follow up with slinging jobs at the German position along the Channel and North Sea coasts.

In this connection, the Soviet government is understood to have notified London that it is convinced there is a good chance of crippling the Nazi armies this year if Great Britain will intensify its offensive action against Germany in western Europe.

As for the Pacific area, the bat-

Report Winds Hit 80 Miles Per Hour During Night

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—Howling winds of gale intensity were dying out in the Pittsburgh district today but snow flurries and rising river stages continued to support March's leonine reputation.

Winds were reported to have hit gust-peaks of 80 miles an hour during the night blowing over trees and poles and breaking many windows in the downtown district, police reported.

Accompanying rain and yesterday's thaw swelled the Pittsburgh rivers, stages at the "point" being expected to reach a peak of 21 feet, at midnight. There was little likelihood of a flood however, weatherman W. S. Brotzman said.

High winds still prevailed in Pittsburgh this morning but were diminishing. The weather bureau recorded a 40-mile wind average over a five-minute period during the night.

Oppose Proposals For Free Trade

Controversy On Tariff Duties

Congressional Leaders Against Free Trade Plans For Western Hemisphere

ASSERT WALLACE SPONSORS PLAN

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Congressional leaders today went on record as strongly opposing proposals made by administration spokesmen for reductions in tariff duties which would establish virtual free trade in the Western Hemisphere.

The plan, said to be sponsored by the state department and the economic warfare board headed by Vice President Wallace, embraced a wide variety of articles and if enacted into legislation would mean the establishment of practically duty-free trade for the duration of the war.

Plan Conference
Republican as well as Democratic leaders were sounded out on the suggestion, and tentative plans made for a formal conference. These have been delayed as the result of stubborn opposition encountered in congress.

The administration has recommended suspension of tariff duties on government import of some strategic war materials, and congress has made some modifications. The Senate Finance committee, which this week begins an investigation of methods of relieving the sugar shortage, also is expected to consider reduction of tariff duties on sugar.

The administration suggestion, however, was said to have gone much further than these limited number of articles, and to have encompassed a wide range of commodities produced in Canada, South and Central America and other countries.

NEW JAPANESE GENERAL SENT TO PHILIPPINES

conquer MacArthur. Revelation that General Yamashita is now in command appeared to confirm the advances received yesterday.

General Yamashita is considered one of Japan's best military tacticians and was responsible for the drive through Malaya which ended in the surrender of Britain's powerful Singapore base.

Brief mention of fighting in the Davao area indicated that the Japanese still do not control the entire area in that important port. The Japanese department had stated that large numbers of American and Filipino troops still were holding the almost impenetrable northern half of Mindanao, but this was the first disclosure that defenders still are active in the Davao section.

Day's Communique
Text of the war department's 140th communique of the war as of 9:30 a. m. E.W.T. follows:
"Philippine theater—There was no fighting in Bataan during the past 24 hours."

"In Mindanao there were some brisk skirmishes in the vicinity of Digos, on Davao gulf."

"The new commander in chief of the Japanese forces in the Philippines is Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, who was in command of the successful Japanese drive in Malaya which resulted in the capture of Singapore."

General Yamashita succeeds General Homma, who is reported to have committed suicide because of his failure to destroy General MacArthur's troops.

The new Japanese commander has established his field headquarters at San Fernando in central Pangasinan province north of Manila Bay.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

'VICTORY STRATEGY' BEING WORKED OUT

ties of Malaya, Singapore and the Netherlands East Indies are believed to have convinced the strategy planners that it will be impossible to launch any major land or sea offensive against the Japanese until the United Nations are in a position to gain mastery of the air.

Hold Fast to Australia
Therefore, the diplomatic observers believe the "victory strategy" plan will call for holding fast in Australia and India, while American assembly lines turn out thousands of bombers and fighting planes.

Holding fast, however, is not seen as merely sitting tight and waiting for the enemy to attack. Strong offensive thrusts are foreseen against the Japanese forces from Australia, India, China, Hawaii and the Aleutian Islands. These thrusts are considered likely to be in the nature of daring raids, rather than any major all-out offensive against Japan.

One high British source in Washington outlined the situation as follows:

"The first three months of the war found America in a position somewhat similar to that of Great Britain after Dunkirk. Now America is beginning to recover and gain strength. The Japanese advance is bound to be checked soon, and then the tide will begin to turn."

Let's not kid ourselves. We have already lost. Now we face the long tough job of winning it back.

garded as reliable" that Lieut. Gen. Masarahu Homma, commander-in-chief of the invading Philippine forces, has committed suicide.

"According to these reports, which lack complete verification, the Japanese general's suicide was motivated by the fact that his numerically superior forces had been unable to destroy the American and Philippine defenders of Bataan and Corregidor," the war department said.

Homma's reported death in Japanese Hari-Kiri fashion came approximately two months after his surrender demands were spurned by MacArthur.

The successful artillery barrage climaxed a series of stunning and unexpected counter blows by MacArthur's Bataan battlers. Earlier, the defenders launched a counter-attack by land in which they gained valuable ground and followed it with an air raid over Subic Bay in which three troopships loaded with 3,000 to 5,000 enemy soldiers were destroyed.

Lack Of News

News and lack of it from other points in the Pacific, however, cast grim shadows over the United Nations war effort.

In Java, American, British and Dutch forces still were believed to be fighting fiercely despite persistent Axis reports that the Netherlands command had sued for an armistice. There has been no news from the East Indies island since communications were severed Saturday.

Around Australia, meanwhile, United Nations forces trade blows with Japanese invaders who appeared bent on knocking out vital defense bases by means of repeated air raids.

Fresh Japanese landings in New Guinea, were reported after Nipponese planes dropped a high explosive on Port Moresby, on the southeast coast of New Guinea.

FARM 'PARITY' PRICE BATTLE BEFORE HOUSE

ed economy forces into play against a powerful farm bloc that has had its way in congress for a decade. At some points in the debate, the economy forces have decisively overriden the farm faction, and the bill has been cut by $2,300,000 from the total as it was reported out of the appropriations committee. The farm bloc succeeded in writing only one increase into the bill, a $200,000 addition to funds allotted to the tobacco inspection and grading service.

Compromise Killed
Compromise on the parity issue apparently was killed at the White House Saturday, when congressional leaders conferred for more than an hour with President Roosevelt on "general aspects" of the agriculture appropriations bill.

If adopted, it would have permitted the Commodity Credit Corporation to sell government-owned wheat and corn at less-than-parity prices for use in feeding livestock on the farm. A provision prohibiting the CCC from selling any of its farm commodities at less than parity is contained in the appropriation measure.

It is on this point that the major battles will develop today, when administration leaders in the house will propose to strike the provision from the bill.

Other Hurdles
Other hurdles to be gotten over before a final vote on the bill, include:

1.—An attempt to cut the $450,000,000 allotment for soil conservation payments during the 12 months ending July 1, 1943.

2.—A provision permitting the secretary of agriculture to make parity payments for the five basic crops—wheat, corn, cotton, rice and tobacco—up to $212,000,000 without a direct appropriation or other limitation.

3.—Continuance of benefit payments, totaling $47,960,000, to sugar growers.

4.—Continuance of the farm tenancy program. Comptroller General Lindsay Warren ruled last week that cooperative farm corporations were set up under his program "without authority" in law.

5.—Appropriations for the rural electrification administration, argued by a congressional committee as having planned to "waste" upwards of 750,000 tons of vitally needed copper on non-essential transmission lines.

Mr. Hull needs a vacation, and there is no harm in relaxing now. There is nobody left to appease.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER

EFFECT OF Axis victories in the Far East is the loss of our rubber supply.

In 1940 this country imported 650,000 tons, and almost every pound of it came from countries now blocked off by the Japs.

For 25 years chemists have been developing a rubber substitute. But production of the product was not pushed so long as there was an abundance of cheaper natural rubber. Now the cost question has gone out the window.

The United States must have rubber to win the war. Hence the present pressure on industry to produce a substantial quantity of a rubber substitute.

Prior to December 7 plans were under way for producing 10,000 tons per annum of a synthetic rubber out of petroleum. Subsequently the government raised its sights to 40,000 tons, a goal expected to be realized sometime in 1943. Now the program is being further enlarged to 400,000 tons.

It is said that it will take a year and a half to get plants erected and in full operation. In the meantime the government has enough reserve rubber stocks to cover war needs and a little more. Owners of automobiles must take unusual care to make their present supply of tires last to the ultimate mile.

VICTORY BOND SALES

Though there were fears that sales of Defense Bonds and Stamps might decline in February from the high point of $1,074,800,000 reached in January, the drop, despite the fact that February had fewer days, was slight. Purchases during the last month are estimated to have been close to $900,000,000.

January had one advantage over February. It reflected to some extent the full amount which wealthy investors are permitted to buy during the calendar year. Private investors in Series F and G bonds are limited to $500,000 in any one year and large buyers usually come into the market in the first month.

This month may bring the real test. By the middle of March the public will have put up large amounts in payment of their income taxes. If bond purchases hold up despite this, it will be regarded as proof that there is no diminution of public interest in the bonds.

OUTRAGEOUS

The house appropriations committee has turned down a request from the farm security administration for $23,000,000 to be spent to aid 5,542 families whose farms were taken over for war purposes. The program contemplated purchase of 372,300 acres and included 9,000 acres for 100 families in the northwest and south-central sections of Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania land was expected to cost $500,000 and its development $245,000.

There is some merit to the idea that the government should aid farmers dispossessed for war purposes. There is a measure of moral responsibility. But when conducted on such a grandiose scale as the F. S. A. has contemplated, the plan takes on an aspect which, as the appropriations committee reported, "is wholly contrary to the spirit and the genius of the American way of life and ought to be stopped."

There are residents of the Geneva area, forced to sell their farms to the government, who the deserving of some governmental assistance. But if we examine the proposal of the radical F. S. A. we find that it contemplated spending over seven thousand dollars per family, that it planned to purchase an average of 90 acres each for the 100 families in Pennsylvania. And that amount would be in addition to the original purchase price of the farm, which is presumed to be reasonable and fair.

The residents of Greenwood township whose farms have been taken by the government want what reasonable assistance can be given them in relocating on new farms. But they are patriotic, straight-thinking people and they would be the first to renounce any Communist enterprise by which the government would ladle out an average of $7,450 per farm to help them.—Meadville Tribune-Republican.

PREPARING FOR OFFENSIVE

An encouraging development in America's prosecution of the war is President Roosevelt's reorganization of the Army High Command. It is a forceful move to speed up operations and give the air arm its overdue recognition.

The order is designed to abolish the antedated and bureaucratic system under which chiefs of infantry, cavalry, field artillery and coast artillery—and other military functionaries—performed overlapping duties to the detriment of speed and coordination. Now there is envisioned a tight, streamlined general staff in which ground, air and service of supply will answer directly and responsibly to the Chief of Staff, and he, in turn, to the President and Commander-in-Chief.

To see that every advantage is realized from the new setup devolves upon Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, Commander of Ground Forces; Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Commander of Air Forces, and Maj. Gen. Brehon D. Somervell, Commander of the Service of Supply. All are answerable individually to General Marshall, Chief of Staff. The system should permit swift and certain fixing of responsibility in case of fall-downs.

The order, intentionally or not, coincides with publication of General Marshall's statement that "The time has now come when we must proceed with the business of carrying the war to the enemy." Certainly there can be no better way of carrying the war to the enemy—as the enemy has carried it to the United Nations—than by stripping the military establishment of dead wood.

The Navy henceforth must cooperate with this reorganized Army command and it will be a Navy which has itself undergone changes, but none so drastic. It remains to be seen whether the same foresighted influences and brains which ordained the Army reorganization will be as vigilant with regard to the Navy.

The aim, surpassing every other consideration, is to carry the battle to the enemy. That is what the country wants.

Father Time is always pictured with a long set of white whiskers and no doubt he has seen enough to cause them to become white.

Midwestern states show no enthusiasm about receiving Japs evacuated from the Pacific Coast. Most Americans have definite idea about where the Japs should go.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN CHILD LIES OR STEALS

Lying and stealing, like charity, begins at home and many conscientious parents who try hardest to prevent their repetition do most to cause it.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I read your column a lot and have gotten many helpful ideas from it, but I have read nothing in your column about preventing children from stealing. I have a daughter 7 years old and I have whipped, put to bed, shamed and pleaded with her to no avail. She will take money out of my purse or her father's pockets and she takes little things from among her cousin's playthings. I am wondering what you suggest I do."

"She goes to Sunday school and seems to believe in Jesus and says her prayers regularly without being told. I thought she was cured until about a month ago when I discovered she had taken money from her little brother's bank. She also will tell me little lies if she thinks she can get away with it. I know she is old enough to know better. So if you can help me I would appreciate it very much. I enclose a stamped envelope."

The Doctor's Answer

I know how hard you have tried to teach your daughter to do right. Yet in your eagerness to do so you have done what most parents do: You have gotten worked up emotionally and tried to make the child confess and then punished her after she did. While with practice you have grown more skillful in questioning her she has grown still more skillful in deceiving you and escaping your detection. You will get nowhere by these methods.

If you were to catch her in the act of stealing something, which is not probable, you should punish her effectively at once. But if you merely suspect she has taken something, don't ask her if she did. Do so only when you only practice her in lying.

Be Affectionate

Shield her from undue temptations and help her feel more worth while and secure in the family group. Almost certainly she feels her parents do not love her as much as they love her little brother. Her jealousy, indeed, may be the source of her stealing.

From now on you and dad should show her more affection. Ponder her now and then when alone with her. Be enthusiastic over her achievements. Pay close attention when she tells about her experiences. Attract her playmates to your home.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. At what age can spanking be entirely abandoned?

A. As soon as the child will stay where put doing nothing for so many minutes as measured by the clock. A well brought-up child may reach this stage as early as the age of two years. No use to hold a child or tie him in a chair. He must know it would be painfully unsafe to leave it before the announced time is up.

The World and the Mud Puddles

DISGUSTING

Retooling of the Dearborn, Michigan, Ford plant for production of bomber parts was shut down four times in a period of three days in February because of dispute over the status of one workman.

The issue, apparently simple enough at the start, grew, in three days, too complicated for intelligent comment by an outsider.

However, no full-blooded citizen of these United States feels either disposed or obligated to attempt an understanding of it. There is a larger issue which no one can fail to understand or see as dwarfing all others in pettiness.

That is the issue of whether we wish to survive as a free nation or not.

At this moment we are losing a war in the Pacific, primarily for lack of bombers. We are suffering casualties for lack of bombers, and many more young Americans will be killed or maimed needlessly before our forces in that war theater and elsewhere are equipped as they ought to be.

What issue can any American, safe at home for the moment because others are dying for him, see as more important than the issue of properly arming these young men?

I read with nausea at the pit of my stomach that work at the Ford plant at last has been "resumed pending negotiations". Are American lives so cheap, is the fate of free America so lightly held that this previous dispute could not have been left to negotiation in the first place?

HAPPYGRAMS

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A well-known psychiatrist has stated that hoarders are "mentally unhealthy" and that they should be considered as subnormal people.

We cannot agree with the learned doctor.

Hoarders are selfish. They want to enjoy the things of which their neighbors are being deprived.

Hoarders are cowards. They are afraid to face the realities of war and refuse to suffer so that their country may be victorious.

Hoarders are unpatriotic. War needs hard bodies, steady nerves, frugality and sacrifice. Softness and sugar don't win wars.

Hoarders are saboteurs. They upset the government's plan of action, rob others of their ration, deteriorate morale.

No hoarders are not mentally ill; they are spiritually bankrupt.

BORROWING

Borrowing often amounts almost to a necessity, such as when we are caught in an unexpected shower at a friend's house and need an umbrella to protect our clothes from ruin. But many of my readers will agree that social enemy No. 1 is the borrower who makes no returns. Books are her chief spoils.

"Darling, have you a thrilling detective story? I'll bring it back the next time I pass by." You know the type. You see your book her mother's, her sister's and her brother's houses, but you never get it back until you actively hunt it down with the perseverance of a bloodhound.

This type bobs up unexpectedly to borrow your scotch or rye or gin for unexpected guests; a cupful of sugar or coffee or a half dozen eggs—even money to pay the maid who must go home before the master of the house arrives. If her victims recover 25 per cent they are fortunate. And if you really like her, you soon realize the truth of Polonius' advice about loan loans: "both itself and friend," because as soon as she becomes conscious that she is deeply in debt to you she avoids you as if you were the plague.

One of the silly stories going the rounds is about the "traveler in the middle of the Sahara Desert who came upon a man walking alone, dressed only in a bathing suit. Imagine the amazement of the traveler."

"But," said the traveler, "you're a hundred miles from the sea."

"Yep," replied the other. "Wide beach, ain't it?"

We're getting darned tired of the war slogan: "No use crying over spilled milk."

What's What At A Glance

Streamlined Fighting Commands Sought

Early Test Of Proposal Will Be Given

Readjustment Asked For Is Radical One

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 9.—President Roosevelt's recent executive order, reorganizing and streamlining Uncle Sam's fighting commands for the duration of the war, will have at least a few weeks' trial before even military experts will be able to pass understandingly upon the question of its merits. It won't be more than a few weeks, however, for the order was issued with a view to the launching of an immediate offensive against the Axis. Consequently there'll be little delay in a start on the test.

The readjustment called for is pretty radical, and yet it's somewhat in the nature of a compromise between conflicting armed interests.

One group of planners has long urged a unification of our land and sea forces under a single direction. This group has included aviation in its calculations since that's become an important factor in large scale strife. Of course the president, as commander-in-chief, already is supreme over all three arms, but advocates of a merger of them have wanted them consolidated into a triple combination, with one and the same cabinet head responsible for the whole thing.

Army and navy professionals have opposed such an arrangement, on the ground that their respective units operate better independently of one another.

Aviation enthusiasts have been clamoring for a distinct setup, too. They have prodded into action by political opponents and independent commentators who have been calling upon him for new men.

The aviators, on their side, have argued that land armies and surface battleships are practically obsolete today. They haven't actually proposed the total abandonment of such old-fashioned warfare mechanisms, but at least they have said they would keep it tied onto such out-of-date coattails.

Well, the latest presidential order neither abolished the army or navy, nor did it combine them. Thus the consolidation missionaries are disappointed.

It did semi-divorce aviation from the army's department though. That is, while it didn't give the flyers an independent cabinet rating, which would have required an act of congress, it did give them an independent commander, so far as land, but overhead, fighting is concerned.

The unification folk, meaning unification of military subdivision, to be sure, won a partial victory, in that groundward warriors and air warriors, inland both, are subject to the same command.

Cabinet Change

WASHINGTON, March 9. CHANGES in the Roosevelt Cabinet have been predicted for so long by so many, without eventuation, that it is easy to understand why public faith in these predictions should be slight. Nevertheless, they continue. In the last few days rumor has dealt with names of those about to go out and others about to come in.

THAT some changes could be made with advantage to the national interests is clear. Reason they have not occurred before is the reluctance of Mr. Roosevelt to do three things—first, to concede that himself as the head, any different Cabinet is needed; second, to admit that his critics have been right and some of his selections were mistakes from the start; third, to appear prodded into action by political opponents and independent commentators who have been calling upon him for new men.

ONE group of these ignores the merits of the individual and insists that the members of the Cabinet are too old. Another group passes by the age factor and charges general incompetency. A third contends that they are both incompetent and over-aged. Conceding that the Cabinet could be greatly improved, there still is plausibility in the argument that substitutions which Mr. Roosevelt could be induced to make would not greatly improve it. His selections of new men might easily make it less of a truly national Cabinet than new.

AND there is an answer to both the old age and the incompetency allegations. So far as the first is concerned, it is pointed out that while it is true many famous military and political leaders of long some generations were under 50 years old at the time of their triumphs—the span of human life has lengthened fifteen to twenty years in the last

Preparing Many Youths For Service In Industry

Employment of Dominick Masello, of this city, by the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, Beaver, was announced today by John C. Zella, director of the New Castle National Youth Administration resident defense work center.

The local youth had been living at the New Castle NYA Center for the past eight months where he was preparing himself for private employment through actual work and related training. Young Dominick was enrolled in the acetylene and electric arc welding shop making various articles for use in public agencies. He was also taking courses in training related to this work given under the supervision of the local schools and the State Department of Public Instruction.

Dominick is one of a number of young men from the New Castle NYA Center who have obtained jobs during the past two months. The great majority of these youth have obtained jobs with the defense plants.

At the present time there are approximately 287 youth from all sections of Pennsylvania working at the New Castle Center, preparing themselves for war industry jobs. At the Center the youth live in a cooperative society, and are paid $30 a month, $20 of which is returned for board, room, medical attention, and other services. The Center itself consists of fourteen buildings and three shops. The shops afford opportunity for youth to gain experience in machine shop, welding, and sheet metal work.

Happy thought! Maybe unflavored water would seem just as good if we paid a nickel a glass.

Eintracht Society Annual Smoker

Affair Is Held At Auditorium
On Taylor Street, Saturday Night

Members of the Eintracht Singing society enjoyed their annual smoker Saturday night in the auditorium of the building on Taylor street with the room comfortably filled. Several boxing bouts, acts of entertainment and short speeches made up the program of entertainment.

President George Kappes spoke briefly at the opening of the program, welcoming the members. Three exhibition bouts furnished by the New Castle A. C. were then presented. The boxers were Cab Good and Chuck Francis at 170 pounds, Russell Baxter and Johnny Gardner at 155 pounds, and Bill Bradley and Pete Mary at 135 pounds. Harold McCarthy refereed the bouts with Frank Cowperthwaite and Dallas Hartman handling the boxers. Several entertainers presented songs and dances after the boxing.

Featuring the evening's program was the Eintracht male chorus directed by Prof. W. A. Neischwitz of Youngstown, O., who has directed the chorus for several years. He is the director of music for the Haven high school of Youngstown, O. The chorus sang four glees with William Earl at the piano. Harry Masters, a member of the chorus, sang several solo numbers.

Short addresses were made by the following: Judge John G. Lanore, Ross D. Rosenberger and John Liebert. A special tribute was paid during the evening to Fred Brundert, a veteran member whose birthday occurred Saturday. A plate lunch completed the evening.

A prayer was read, and following the mass gave the pledge to be loyal and obedient in civil and ecclesiastical matters, and in these dark hours to give sacrifices, spiritually and materially, in order to save our country.

Serving the delicious meal were the young ladies of the Our Lady's Sodality of the church.

The Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, assistant pastor of the church, and spiritual director of the society, was in charge of the society, with officers of the society who assisted are: president, Domenick Cioffi; secretary, Sullivan Cicerone; and treasurer, John Mastrangelo.

Registrants are being sought for the Auxiliary Fire Corps in the city of New Castle, who will receive training under men of the fire department who took a course of training at Carnegie Tech recently.

One group, recently organized in the Second Ward has almost completed its course, and another is ready to start at the Fourth Ward fire station.

Registration has been a little slow in the Sixth and Seventh wards, and men of these districts who are willing to serve in this defense effort are asked to report to the captain in charge at these stations.

It is to the advantage of everyone to know what to do in the event of a fire bomb raid, as a widespread raid would make it impossible for the fire department to cover every area effected, and it would be up to volunteer auxiliary firemen to put out some of the fires which would start. Without training, most men would be helpless.

It is particularly desirable that men who are in deferred classes apply for this training.

Instruction is being carried out under the direction of Assistant Fire Chief George Harper, who is deputy instructor for the city of New Castle.

The Great Game Of Politics

century. Men—and women, too—of 60 and 65 years today are, in reality, not older in mental and physical vigor than those of 45 and 50 in the early eighteen hundreds. Except where poor health has caused incapacity, the age of the Cabinet member ought not to outweigh other qualities.

MORE influential, for example, than any Cabinet member is Mr. Harry Hopkins, who is only 52. Yet, not many will argue that his age qualifies him as a sound adviser or an efficient aide. He would want a Hull and a Stimson, or even a Jones and a Knox, displaced by men of the Hopkins type. But that is the type the President likes and clings to. As to the charge of incompetency, it is certainly true that sins of omission and commission can be charged against various members of this Cabinet. Mr. Jones made a stupid mistake about rubber—and other things. Colonel Knox has spoken and written unwisely and too much. Mr. Biddle, one of the young members, made a mistake in his "War Secrets" bill. Mr. Ickes went off half-cocked about oil. And there have been others.

HOWEVER, such is the insistence upon personal domination by the President that competency in the heads of departments does not count as it should. Under him Cabinet members are detail men, not policy makers. Initiative is supposed to come from the White House. It never has been encouraged in Cabinet members. Ideas still come from the brain trust boys of the "inner circle". They are given to the Cabinet, not taken from them. That is the ease now. That has always been the case in this regime and changes in the Cabinet would not alter this fact.

THE Cabinet member upon whom the most savage attack has centered is Secretary of Labor Perkins. Certainly, Miss Perkins is no great asset. But, in fairness two things should be said. One is that at least she is a better Secretary of Labor than either of her two immediate predecessors. One of these was William N. Doak, pushed on Mr.

Hoover by organized labor and certainly one of the poorest specimens who ever held a public office. The other was "Puddier Jim" Davis, now Senator from Pennsylvania and anxious to be Governor. Mr. Davis was appointed by Harding, held over under Coolidge and literally had to be pried out by Hoover. It isn't high praise to say that Miss Perkins is better than these, but it is true.

THE other thing to be said is that it is unfair to blame her for labor policies, labor excesses, unsound labor legislation, sit-down strikes or anything else. What had she to do with these? The answer is nothing. Labor policy has not been made in the department but in the White House. The President formed his own labor alliances. It was he who built up these labor bosses, giving them what they wanted in return for political support. They dealt with him direct. It is he who in a time of national peril has held to these alliances, blocked regulatory legislation, tolerated defense strikes, avoided wage control to offset inflation and now permits an unrestrained drive toward the labor tyranny of a closed shop.

WHAT'S the sense of kicking poor Miss Perkins around for these things? She isn't responsible. She has simply acted in accord with the Roosevelt wish—and so will Mr. John Winant, our returning Ambassador from England if, as reported, he is put in Miss Perkins' place. So will any other Roosevelt selection. Let's be realistic about this Cabinet business and put responsibility where it belongs. It might be wise for those who are insisting upon Cabinet changes to be sure that what we get is as good as what we have. It easily might not be. And anyhow, neither their age nor their ability matters an awful lot so long as the man at the top insists on running the whole show. It has been said here before and it is said again—everybody in this Administration is limited by the limitations of the President. When a change is effected in him it is felt all the way to the base. But changes anywhere else do not mean much.

to orders from Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff. Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, ground force commander, and Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold inland aviation chief, alike will report to him. So will Maj. Gen. Brehan B. Sommerville, ground and inland air chief, though his supply chainmanship, important as it is, isn't quite as romantic as a leadership of outright physical belligerence.

Oversea aviation, however, didn't get a divorce from the navy.

In that respect the total-consolidationists and the aviators failed to score.

The consolidationists got part of what they wanted—a consolidation of the national land fighters' forces and inland aviation's, but they slipped up on the navy part of their desired merger, both as to surface ships and overseas flying.

The aviators won out on their demand for a separate commander inland, but they're still tied to the navy at sea.

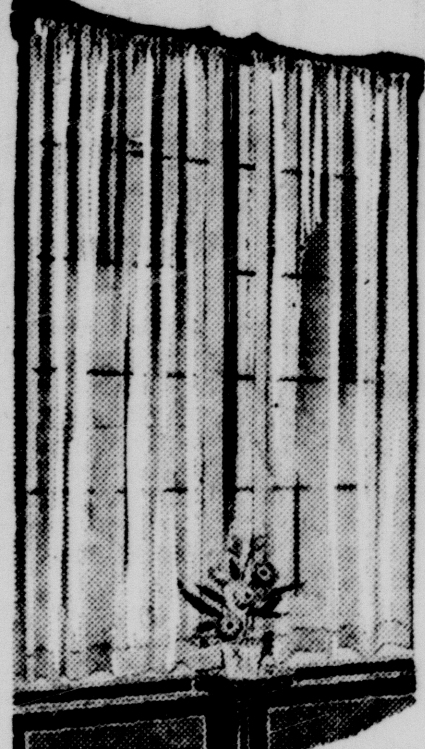

The navy, alone, got a pretty fair break.

Time Will Tell

Aviation is the future's prime problem. It is as effective as it says it is, it's due, sooner or later, to establish itself as an arm exclusive its own.

It believes it will chuck all earthly and oceanical fighting units into the discard before the end of the current war. It will have a chance.

to prove or fail to prove its case quite speedily.

President Roosevelt, with his army reorganization order, is working up to it middling fast.

Consolidation of all commands is being tried also, by the way. Germany's experimenting with it now. Its army, its aviation corps and whatever navy it's got are a single unit. When it speaks of its war department it means WAR DEPARTMENT—the whole thing.

We're approaching the matter by degrees.

Our prospective offensive should hustle em up, though.

New Submarine Tender Is Named After Inventor

(International News Service)
MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD, Cal.—The name of one of America's foremost scientific wizards has been given to the submarine tender which was recently launched at the Mare Island Navy Yard.
She ship is the Sperry, namesake of the late Elmer Ambrose Sperry, best known for his development of the gyro-compass.
Displacing more than 9,000 tons, the tender is the second of five submarine tenders being constructed at the Mare Island yard. Keel of the third, the Bushnell, will be laid down a few days after the Sperry's launching.
Selection of the name of Inventor Sperry for a submarine tender is considered particularly appropriate, because of his direct contribution to the science of submarine warfare, as well as to naval warfare generally.
His gyro-compass was first installed on the battleship Delaware in 1911, and has since entirely superseded the magnetic compass on submarines and battleships.
Sperry also designed and manufactured electrically sustained gyros for torpedoes, enabling them to complete long trajectories with a high degree of accuracy. During the World War, he developed an aerial torpedo with an automatic gyro-control which proved effective at a range of 35 miles.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 9.—Democratic leaders were so interested in lining up support for their candidates for the gubernatorial nomination that they apparently forgot all about the rest of the ticket. Thus, when the Democratic state committee met and prepared to endorse Auditor General F. Clair Ross for governor, National Committeeman David L. Lawrence and Philadelphia City Chairman James P. Clark, who controlled the committee, suddenly awoke to find themselves without a state slate. Lawrence and Clark then asked the state committee to recess for several weeks, which it did, much to the disappointment of Ross and the 113 members of the state committee.

Ross still appears assured of the committee's endorsement when it reconvenes on March 14 at Harrisburg. The other statewide posts to be filled are those of lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs, supreme court justice, superior court judge and congressman-at-large. There is much jockeying going on for these posts. State Sen. John H. Dent, of Jeannette, stated he will announce his candidacy for lieutenant governor before the state committee reconvenes. Dent has been a staunch supporter of former Gov. George H. Earle and urged him repeatedly, but unsuccessfully, to become a candidate again. "I'm the best ex-miner in the senate," he commented, looking ahead to the future.

In political circles it is believed that Luther A. Harr, former Philadelphia city treasurer, may prove to be more of a nuisance value than a major opponent for Allegheny County Judge Ralph H. Smith and Ross, the candidates of Senator Joseph P. Guffey and Lawrence, respectively, for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Conceivably, the Democratic electorate could become so aroused over having the party's candidates picked by party bosses that they would turn around and vote for Harr. This is highly unlikely to happen, however, in a primary election. Such uprisings are usually reserved for general elections, when the independent vote turns out. Unlike Ross and Smith, Harr does not have strong political machines behind him.

Former Governor Earle inadvertently furnished Judge Smith with some good campaign ammunition in his address before the Pennsylvania house of representatives recently. "It doesn't matter whether a man changes his party," said the former chief executive, "as long as he doesn't change his principles." Judge Smith is being accused by his Democratic opponents of having been a Pinchot Republican. He can now cite the words of the former governor, a friend of Lawrence, to throw back at them. Earle also stated that "sometimes the party itself changes its principles and then the only thing a man can do with justice to himself is to change his party." Earle was a registered Republican before he became the Democratic candidate for governor in 1934.

Chances are that the nomination of Col. Lynn G. Adams for state motor police commissioner will never be brought out of senate committee for confirmation. The Republicans don't have the two-thirds vote required for confirmation.

Urge Use Of Honey In Place Of Sugar

Many Uses For Product Are Outlined By Department Of Agriculture

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, March 9.—Use of honey as a substitute for sugar is advocated by the bureau of plant industry of the department of agriculture.

With the rationing of sugar now in effect as a war measure, the bureau pointed out that honey can be utilized successfully in many instances where sugar is needed. Already housewives are finding new recipes for the substitution. In the comb, extracted from the comb and granulated or creamed, it can be used in baking, as a spread for toast, muffins, hot cakes or bread, etc., in making candies and soft drinks. In extracted form it can be utilized in preparing candied vegetables, custard puddings, pies, grape fruit, hot and cold breakfast foods, whipping cream and salads.

However, the bureau pointed out, care should be exercised in the substitution, using only recipes especially prepared for the use of honey.

Honey has many advantages over sugar, it was explained. It is equally as sweet as sugar, but is more easily digested; it furnishes slightly more energy; it can be used to advantage in feeding children and invalids; it has a large variety of natural flavors, and in baking it preserves the natural moisture of the food.

The bureau further explained that there is now enough equipment available in the state to increase the present annual output of about 4,000,000 pounds of honey to three times that amount.

For These... We Will Win Again

The American Home is both proof and source of America's Might!

It is proof, because where it now stands, only one hundred or two hundred years ago spread the wilderness. American blood and sweat, American brawn and brain conquered that wilderness, tamed it, and developed it into the greatest civilization that the world has ever known, a civilization whose keystone is the great American Home.

The same American blood and sweat, brawn and brain have also time and time again hurled down into defeat every force that dared to challenge our right to build, possess and enjoy our beloved home.

It is the source of our might because in our home we have acquired health, character, courage, optimism, determination and the love of freedom that gives us the power to win.

Material possessions are in themselves unimportant. But they help to make our home truly a "place most blessed", where Americans enjoy life, liberty and civilization... and refresh themselves daily for renewed vigor in America's defense work. We in the furniture industry are proud of our modest part in making the American home the mightiest spiritual fortress in the world.

For these great homes and ideals and for the right to live in common decency we are fighting.

For these, we will win again.

Population Near Cities Is Growing

Proportion Of Urban Residents To Suburban Showing Greater Variance

(International News Service) STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 9.—The proportion of Pennsylvania's population living within easy access of large cities continues to increase despite back-to-the-land movements. All except 2 of Pennsylvania's 11 officially defined metropolitan districts of the sixteenth census had more residents in 1940 than 10 years earlier, said H. R. Cottrell, rural sociologist of the Pennsylvania State College.

Growth of metropolitan districts is not reflected in larger numbers of people in the central cities of these districts, but in an increase in the open country surrounding the cities.

Only 6 of the 11 districts had population increases within the central cities, the largest of these being 4 per cent.

St. David's Day Banquet Held

Judge Braham Makes Address At Annual Gathering Saturday Night

ABOUT 200 ATTEND;
MUSIC FEATURES

Over 200 American-Welsh people and their friends assembled on Saturday evening at the annual banquet, celebrating St. David's Day. The occasion was given in the dining room of the Epworth Methodist church at 6:30.

To open the celebration, those assembled sang "America," and Rev. Charles J. Burton gave the invocation.

Enthusiastic pep singing was led by Griff Thomas.

Edwin Lewis presided at the piano throughout the evening.

The tables were patriotically decorated and adorned with bouquets of daffodils. American Welsh flower, also "Victory" favors.

Rev. T. J. Jones Toastmaster

Harry Jones, the chairman, said it was decided to hold the banquet, although we were at war. He remarked: "We know if the Axis won the war we would not be able to hold a banquet, but they are not going to win." He introduced the toastmaster of the evening, Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church.

Rev. Jones extended a hearty welcome to all present. He said he had been born, raised, educated, and preached in Wales. On his arrival in this country, he took out his first papers within three days, and became a citizen in due time. Stated he was not a "hyphen," he was an American Welshman. He was proud of the noble part Wales was taking in this world conflict, and cited that one town of 13,000 had sent 900 men to the war front. He was glad to introduce the speaker of the evening, President Judge W.

Walter Braham, whom he and the community held in such high esteem.

Judge Braham Speaks

The audience applauded Judge Braham said he belonged to the Scottish Celts, related to the Welsh Celts. In his masterful address, he spoke of the "gospel of force" being thrust forward by the Germans of Hitler, against the gospel of Christianity, peace, and humanity. Hitler has taken the writings of Nietzsche and put them into action. Welsh people never claimed they were supermen, they like Americans, desire to live their own lives. We have lifted our hand against this gospel of force. It is then or it is us. We don't want to be ruled by masterminds, we want to go along in our way. We refuse tribute to the man who is not the servant of all. We honor the man giving good service. Many years ago this gospel of force finally fell, it fell in 1918, and it will fall again! We must take hold of our faith and courage. When we take our stand against this force, we are doing the Lord's work. We must write to our boys in the camps, and encourage them in this stand for the principles of humanity.

Mrs. R. T. Morris, Youngstown, sang, "Gwlad y brynion" and "Ddim yn tebyl i gartre."

Announces Gynafan Ganu

Councilman D. O. Davies made a few remarks. Henry T. Jones announced the New Castle Gynafan Ganu, first Sunday in May. Mrs. Stewart Cope, president of Martha lodge brought greetings, and welcome from the lodge members.

E. G. Lewis, president of Star of Wales, lodge, thanked the committees for the good work they had accomplished. Dan Hughes, grand secretary of True Ivories of America, thanked all who had helped to make the occasion a success. Rev. C. J. Burton of St. Andrew's church, brought words of greeting.

Miss Florence Davies gave a solo, "Thanks Be to God."

The toastmaster presented Edwin Lewis and Griff Thomas, who were given a rising vote of thanks.

David Lewis sang "The White Cliffs of Dover." The audience sang the Welsh hymn, "Aberystwyth."

A quartet, David Lewis, Mrs. W. M. Johns, Florence Davies, Griff Thomas, sang the Welsh air, "All Through the Night."

The quartet and audience sang the Welsh national anthem, "Hen Wlad Fy Nhaid."

Rev. Burton pronounced the benediction. The occasion was under the auspices of the Star of Wales and Martha lodges of the True Ivories of America.

The M-3 And Its Streamlined Successor

Left, at Fort Knox, Ky., is the M-3 medium tank of the U. S. armed forces, whose rivet construction has drawn much criticism. Right, is its streamlined successor, the M-4, rivetless and of an all-cast body, shown without its cannon and machine guns, of which it has plenty. Both tanks weigh about thirty tons. AIRPORT AT BANDOENG, CENTER OF FIGHTING IN JAVA

What United Nations planes are left in Java may be using this field, at Bandoeng, as a base for operations against the Japanese invaders. The temporary capital of the Netherlands East Indies now is the center of the fighting for possession of the last Allied stronghold in the Indies. Note the Martin bombers shown in the view of the airfield, above.

OHIO ARMY NURSES IN IRELAND

Writers Pledge China Aid

Pitching for the U. S.

Marine Sgt. Everett R. Aikman, of West Chester, Pa., demonstrates how he hurls a fragmentation hand grenade 227 feet, 9 inches, to exceed the official record by more than five yards. In his throw, he keeps his eyes glued to the target, shifts his weight to the right foot, and with a stiff wrist lets go. Aikman can drop the missile within five yards of his target every time. The Streamlined General Staff

Mayor Fletcher Bowron

Declaring that in his opinion the FBI was all right in peacetime, Mayor Fletcher Bowron told a House investigating committee in Los Angeles that under war conditions the organization was wholly inadequate. He said lack of cooperation between the FBI and army and navy intelligence hampered the Bureau. (Central Press)

Helped Convict Spies

Lucy Boehmler

Testimony given by German-born Lucy Boehmler, 18, is regarded as the most damaging evidence that resulted in the conviction of five men and a woman on espionage charges in federal court in New York. Miss Boehmler, who was the government's chief witness in the trial, previously had pleaded guilty herself to similar charges. Sentences will be imposed Friday, March 13, on the six convicted persons, Miss Boehmler and Hans Fagel, who also pleaded guilty to the charges.

Well, It's Started Already

No, you're not in Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, watching a couple of faithful Dodger fans give the enemy the old razzberry. You're in the Dodgers' training camp, though, in Havana, Cuba, and Cuban fans are making the Dodger opponents, the Giants, feel right at home.

HANGRY FRENCH ENVOY PROTESTS

So aroused that he was nearly speechless, Gaston Henry-Haye, right above, Vichy ambassador to the United States, is pictured as he talked to reporters at the state department in Washington, where he protested to Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles against the British bombing of munitions plants in Paris suburbs and against United States recognition of Free French control over Pacific islands.

The Hawaiian Bomber Command on the Alert

The Hawaiian Bomber Command is geared to a peak of watchfulness and preparedness as authorities make sure there shall be no repetition of the Pearl Harbor attack. Top, three of Uncle Sam's huge aerial defenders speed through the skies seeking the enemy before he comes within striking distance. Bottom, men of the ordnance crew carefully load one of the flying fortresses with an assorted selection of bombs for its patrol. Bomb being carried is of the 300-pound type. (Central Press)

Newest Weapon To Fight the Dive Bomber

The gun being assembled at the General Motors Pontiac Division plant, Detroit, by Charles McDermott and Elmer Spaulding is the Oerlikon, which the British Navy believes is the answer to the dive bomber threat. The British let contracts for the manufacture of this gun to Swiss firms who required almost a year to get into production. General Motors required but seven months to start turning them out, although unfamiliar with gun production. (Central Press)

The Paris Renault Plant After RAF Raid

C. P. Radiophoto

A British reconnaissance plane made this photo, transmitted by radio to New York in two sections, of the Renault plant in the Paris suburbs on the day after RAF bombers blasted the huge munitions works. Vichy sources estimate the dead at 660 in the German-controlled area. Damage to the great factory may be seen plainly and many of the great sheds still standing are charred from the flames. British charge the plant was turning out war equipment for the Nazis.

New Cumberland Center Growing

Reception Center, New Idea With Army, Has Proven Usefulness

NEWSPAPERMAN'S SON IS SMARTEST

(International News Service) NEW CUMBERLAND, Pa., March 9.—Since its opening a year ago last month, the Army reception center here has received approximately 27,000 men for processing, army officials recently announced.

The reception center, a new idea with the army, receives men still in civilian clothes directly from the state selective service centers. After their arrival, recruits take the oath of allegiance, receive the classification test to learn their capabilities, are inoculated, vaccinated and equipped with a uniform. They remain at the center until their assignment to another post. In the last war men went directly from their homes to the training camps.

The reception center was first used about a year ago when Lieut. Col. Joseph A. Sheridan took a group of officers and enlisted men there. Since that time the five buildings have grown to many spread over a large area, with a recreation building and chapel as well as many newly constructed barracks.

Among those inducted were Victor Pearce Smith, Pittsburgh, born at the time of the last armistice and named accordingly; Alvin York Parson, East Waterford, named for the hero of the first World War; John T. Dorrance, Radnor, heir to the Campbell soap millions; William S. Phillips, Wayne, who made his living with a carnival as a human icicle encased in a block of ice; and Athanasios R. Theohary, Philadelphia, who led an Albanian guerrilla band against the Italians.

Coming within one point of a perfect score in the general classification test and within two of the highest attainable score in the mechanical aptitude test, Clifford A. Spohn, son of a Reading newspaperman, was the most intelligent recruit discovered in the center.

Note on colonial policy: Only the Filipinos regard white men as comrades, and regard their defeat as disaster for themselves.

For Defense of Mother India

With the Japanese smashing through Burma, India finds itself almost in the front line of the war. In that country of 389,000,000 inhabitants, the might of a nation is rapidly being mobilized. Here is a scene in one of the new plants where airplane engines are being made. The turbaned Sikh at left and the lean Hindu are learning to assemble an engine. (Central Press)

Interclub Council Of Girl Reserves

Monthly Meeting Is Held At Y. W. C. A. On Saturday—Discuss Proposals

On Saturday morning in the club room on the third floor the Girl Reserve Interclub Council of the Y. W. C. A. met for its regular monthly meeting.

After calling the roll, odds and ends of business were taken up with special emphasis placed on the reports of the meeting that the representatives should take back to their clubs. It was agreed that each representative should first report to her club advisor so that the advisor could give her suggestions on the best way of presenting the report to the club. This, too, helps to clarify the report on the girl's own mind.

There was some discussion about the annual trip to Pittsburgh which is scheduled for Tuesday, March 31. On account of several places being closed to public visitation for the duration of the war, it is possible that the trip for this year will be cancelled. A final report about this will be made later.

Prior to the election of council officers the girls discussed the characteristics a girl should possess in order to qualify for these positions. They said for the presidency, a girl should be dependable, have initiative, be friendly and like all girls, be efficient, calm when anything comes

Pennsylvanians Have Paid Out Big Sum In Gas Taxes

Eight Hundred Millions Contributed In Last Twenty Years

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, March 9.—Pennsylvania motorists have paid approximately $800,000,000 in state and federal gasoline taxes since 1921 when the gasoline levy was inaugurated in the commonwealth, W. Purves Taylor, secretary of the associated petroleum industries of Pennsylvania, announced.

Sixty-seven million dollars in state gasoline taxes alone were paid last year in Pennsylvania. "This is an all-time high," Taylor added, "it is a clear indication of the increased ownership and use of motor vehicles traveling over the state's highways."

It is estimated that two out of every three Pennsylvania families now own cars. This is about six times the number of car-owning families in the state in 1917. In addition, there are now 15 times as many trucks on the highways as there were during the first World War, indicating that necessity driving has greatly increased in the past few years.

The gasoline tax, which has been in effect for twenty years in Pennsylvania, was first inaugurated in the state of Oregon on February 25, 1919.

(Special To The News)

Ability to write in shorthand was a great advantage for a secretary. The council believes it is much better democracy to let all girls participate in the nominations instead of having a nominating committee draw up a slate. Therefore, all girls participated in the nominations as well as in the election. They elected Martha Ann Strothers, a member of Elm St. senior G. R. club as president and Mary Louise Ward, member of the ninth and tenth grade G. R. club at Washington, as secretary. Tellers were Edith Dufford, Marilyn Outright and Mary Lou Mahoney.

Following the election, the girls discussed uniting two large events found on the spring G. R. calendar, namely, the Junior Membership Day and the Jewelry Ceremony. Each one of these is a major emphasis in the Girl Reserve movement, but on account of a heavy spring schedule it seems wise to unite the two into one program. All clubs will participate. It will be held sometime the latter part of April, the exact date and time to be decided in the clubs.

All girls who wish to become wearers of the Girl Reserve jewelry should report at the Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday, March 24, either at 10 o'clock in the morning or at 4:15 in the afternoon, depending on their school sessions. The theory in back jewelry is that a girl be an intelligent wearer. Therefore, all girls who are interested attend a series of meetings held in the "Y" and learn about the history of the Y. W. C. A. and Girl Reserves, their ideals and philosophy.

The next meeting of the Girl Reserve Interclub Council will be on April 4, the first Saturday of the month which is the regular meeting day.

On the council are two representatives from each club. They are as follows: Ne-C-H Senior, Mildred Hoch and Marion Wallace; Ne-C-H Junior, Mary Vaughn; Elm street senior, Martha Ann Strothers and Ella Pearl Wright; Shenango, Mary Abraham and Ethel Park; Elm street Junior, Shirley Webber and Juanita Jarvis; Elm street Wonderland, Clarissa Ward and Evelyn Walker; Franklin, Ellen Evans; Ne-C-H Junior, Mary Vaughn; Mahoningtown, Martha Saunders and Margaret Prapok; Washington seventh and eighth grade club, Edith Dufford and Marilyn Outright; Washington eighth and 10th grade club, Mary Louise Ward and Mary Lou Mahoney.

Some Stocks Display Independent Strength During Morning

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 9.—The stock market met support today after drifting lower at the opening, but failed to make any progress on recovery efforts.
A handful of stocks displayed independent strength including Chrysler, Johns-Manville and Glenn L. Martin. Each of these was up a point or more.
Bethlehem and U. S. Steel wiped out early fractional declines, but were unable to get much above Saturday's closing quotations.
A similar pattern was followed by General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Standard Oil of N. J., Goodyear and Texas Co.
Aviations were firm throughout, as were Union Pacific and Santa Fe in the rail section.
Weak spots included Eastman Kodak and Philip Morris, each down a point to new lows for the year. Also at new bottoms were Schenley, Union Carbide, General Foods, Montgomery Ward and Warner Bros.

Shelby Men Fall For "Junior Miss"

By JOHN BALL

(Special News Correspondent)
CAMP SHELBY, Miss., March 5—Spontaneous adolescence has overwhelmed the hardened masculine sophistication of Shelby.

In fact, "Junior Miss" has taken this man's army by storm.

This smash New York stage production, currently playing to "Standing Room Only" audiences on Broadway, opened here Tuesday night for a five-day engagement.

The soldier-audience reactions are cheering this great comedy-hit with enthusiasm equal to a $4.40 theatre ticket. This current USO-Camp Show, Inc., production—the first stage play to be presented here—costs soldiers but twenty-five cents apiece.

The leading role in "Junior Miss" that of the charming adolescent Judy Graves—a characterization which completely captures the heart and fancy of all entertainment seekers. Barbara Bel Geddes, lovely green-eyed, blonde haired youngster, stars in the lead.

Through three rib-splitting acts this lovable child, with her friend Puffy, her sister Lois and a score of other delightful small-fry, takes the audience on a merry journey back into the teen age "Dates and Shenanigans."

Messrs. Max Gordon, producer and Moss Hart, who staged the original, donated "Junior Miss" to the USO-Camp Shows for exclusive presentation throughout the Red White and Blue Circuit of 65 army camps and naval stations, to play to the most appreciative audience in the world—American soldiers, sailors and marines.

The local audiences are certainly living up to its reputation. Applause is loud for Miss Bel Geddes, daughter of the famous Norman Bel Geddes and the rest of the cast which includes such talent as Frank Rowan and Katherine Warren, as Harry and Grace Graves, the parents; Elena Ryerson as Puffy, Melba Rae as Lois Graves, and Judith Cargill, Card Judd, Fraye Gilbert, Clark Chesney, George Wallach, Frank Amy, Paul Nevens, Sam Mann, Blaine Fillmore, Peter Lawrence and Warren Mills.

The show that Walter Winchell praised as "the biggest comedy sensation in the last five years" from all local indication will play to capacity crowds throughout its present tour.

Accordingly, the Revette, Camp Shelby newspaper, advised its soldier-readers about the play:

"So if you never have had the opportunity to attend the legitimate 'the-a-tuh' before, here is your chance. Put on your 'G-I' clothes and prepare yourself for a spasm of laughter. You won't regret it. As the man who has had one."
